Dear Harold,

Re: "The Strange Death of Clay Shaw" - the reviews are so obvious! Stale stuff, usual conjecture and anothole examples of unsolicited gossip masking the real purpose "news". What "investigation" did Boyle conduct? None is indicated. The New Times follows this pattern.

Kaiser is a total system of reviews. He has seen so much data. And he cannot discriminate or judge its relative worth.

But his analysis of The R.F.K. Case only proves his own gross lack of review evaluation.

Still, Rolling Stone and Newsweek many ----.

The Newsweek piece is an obvious hatchet job.

Goldman, author of The Death and Life of Malcolm X, is a "past master of the "balanced" smear.

Please let me know what data you release.

Sincerely,
